Pilot Program for Climate Resilience:

A Platform to Support Medium-Long Term Climate Adaptation through NAPs – Side Event

Monday, December 5, 2011

9:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m.

Africa Pavilion

River Room

This side-event will showcase the early but robust lessons emerging from the PPCR as a model for delivery on medium to long-term strategy for adaptation to the impacts of climate variability and change. The event will focus on emerging lessons from PPCR scaled-up climate finance support in four countries participating in the PPCR: Bolivia, Mozambique, Niger and Samoa (participating in the Pacific regional program)

A short video highlighting the challenges of long term climate resilience in Nepal and Bangladesh will be shown as well as perspectives of other countries captured through the eyes of CIF pilot countries (Bolivia, Jamaica, Niger and Tajikistan).

After the video, Andrew Steer, Special Envoy for Climate Change, World Bank, will moderate a panel of High Level Representatives from Bolivia, Mozambique, Niger and Samoa to discuss further the challenges and deliver key messages with regard to the PPCR.
